Dogs have suddenly become more valuable than horses in this section of the northwest. This unique condition of affairs results from the great and growing demand for dogs to be used in hauling sledges in the Yukon country, Alaska. While thousands of horses, for which their owners cannot get three dollars per head, are roaming over the plains of eastern Washington and Oregon, good-sized canines are bringing from $15 to $30 each in the local market. At Juneau their value is double that sum, and on the Yukon river a good dog brings $100. To the Yukon miner the dog has become what the reindeer is to the Laplander and the pony to the cowboy of Texas and Mexico—a beast of service and a most valuable one.

Every steamer sailing for Alaska for three months past has borne northward several dozen canines destined for service in front of heavily laden sledges. They are taken by boats to Dyea, at the head of salt-water navigation, and there put into harness to assist in hauling the precious outfits and supplies over the Chilkot pass and down the farther slopes to the series of fresh-water lakes forming the headwaters of the Yukon tributaries.

Up to May, when the ice breaks up, dog teams glide over the smooth surfaces of the lakes with a surprising rapidity, considering the loads they are hauling. There are portages to be made around dangerous rapids, and here again their services are invaluable. Arrived at the central posts, such as Forty Mile or Circle City, both men and dogs take a rest, but in most cases the dogs are soon put in harness again for a trip to the diggings along the numerous creeks where shining gold is being washed out.

The sledgedogs are too valuable not to be well cared for when care is possible. Their owners' first thought in this respect is to obtain for them plenty of food, which consists principally of fish, usually salmon, caught in the Yukon river by the natives. An ordinary dog will eat daily two pounds of fresh fish. At Forty Mile last winter dried salmon sold at 20 to 50 cents a pound, and bacon that was fit only for dogs to eat, sold at 37½ cents a pound. In some of the larger camps on the Yukon dog boarding houses have been established, where the canines are properly cared for at from $5 to $15 a month, according to the season and price of dog food.

The native Yukon dog is much more valuable than the importations from Puget Sound. The dogs must be acclimated in order to stand the severities of the winter. It is found that dogs taken from Montana and Dakota endure the Yukon winters with less suffering than those bred in the milder climate at Puget Sound. Two splendid specimens of native Alaskan dogs were brought to Tacoma a few days ago, their owners finding it cheaper to pay their passage on the steamer than to have them boarded at Dyea during his trip down for supplies. The animals weigh 82 and 83 pounds respectively, the larger one having cost its owner $117 at Circle City. These animals are stout, well-proportioned and muscled, and have exceptionally short and heavy necks. Their ears are short and lifted like those of the Eskimo dog. Their coats are dark, and the hair, when not close, is smooth and heavy enough to form a comfortable protection against the Arctic winters and also the Yukon mosquitoes, by the side of which the ferocity of the New Jersey variety pales into insignificance.

An especially prepared dog food, made out of meal and coarse meat from the packing houses is being manufactured in the form of a cracker, and seems likely to come into general use in Alaska.

Buckskin mocassins are provided by many owners to keep the feet of the faithful little draft animals from being worn raw on the ice and snow. They are about nine inches long and made much after the pattern of a child's stocking. Pack saddles are coming into use this spring. These are so arranged that the dogs can carry a weight of from ten to 20 pounds, besides drawing a sledge. The saddle bags fall on either side, and straps are arranged to prevent the pack sliding forward or backward.

A Tacoma dealer has built up a large business in the manufacture of dog harness. The collar is made to slip over the dog's head, obviating the necessity of buckling it about the animal's neck, when the driver's hands are cold and numb. The collar is made of leather faced with sheepskin and stuffed with deer hair.

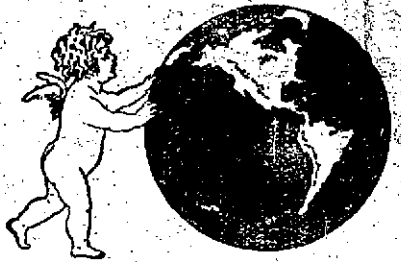

The harness is enclosed in the collar, and attached to them are buckles for fastening the traces. On each collar are placed the rings, to which the traces of a dog in the lead may be attached, making it easy to drive teams in tandem. Traces to the harness for native dogs are made of heavy web material, because the dogs eat the leather on sight, if permitted. This peculiar craving makes it necessary to keep the animals separated when harnessed, so they will not masticate each other's collars. When the web traces become oily the dogs chew even them, and it is only a matter of time when the web tracings become food for the hungry canines.—San Francisco Call.

THE TRIUMPH OF LOVE!

Happy and Fruitful Marriage.

Every MAN who would know the GRAND TRUTHS, the Old Secrets and the New Discoveries of Medical Science applied to Married Life, who would alone for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should write for our wonderful little book, called "Complete Marriage and How to Attain It." To any earnest man we will mail one copy Entirely Free, in plain sealed cover. ERIE MEDICAL CO., 64 NADAR ST., BUFFALO, N. Y.

"THIS LOVE THAT MAKES THE WORLD GO ROUND."

Some people think money is a greater power than love. Oh! What a mistake! See how the great money kings are controlled by the little boy Cupid! See how the great soldiers and men of power are twisted around his little fingers!

A woman's most precious possession is the capacity for awakening pure and noble love. More potent than wit or intellect is the womanly capacity for happy wifehood and motherhood.

A woman who is weak or diseased in the special organism of her sex is deprived of the power and prestige which naturally belong to her. Such troubles are not a necessity. Perfect health and strength of the feminine organism is insured by proper care and the aids afforded by enlightened medical science. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures all weaknesses and diseases of woman's special organism.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician to the Invalid Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y. No other physician has had a more extensive practice or greater success in the treatment of women's diseases. No other such perfect and scientific remedy for these ailments has ever been devised. It has restored health, strength and womanly power to tens of thousands of women.

Women who would understand their own powers and possibilities should read Doctor Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It is the most interesting and enlightening book of the kind ever published. A paper-bound copy will be sent absolutely free to any one sending 21 cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only. Address, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y. For a handsome cloth-bound copy send 31 stamps.

A Window Box Flower Garden.

A window box may be a very cheap or a very expensive affair, but a cheap one, made out of a packing box, will grow flowers just as well as a costly one made of tiles. All that is necessary is something that will hold soil. It is not enough to simply nail window boxes to the wall; a brace should be strongly bracketed at each end to furnish support for the box. The soil with which the box is filled should be rich; plants will not grow in poor earth. It is often difficult to get good soil in the city, but the addition of a little bonemeal, which can be procured from any store where garden seeds are sold, will make a poor soil sufficiently rich in all elements of plant food to insure success. If you do not feel able to afford fertilizer the use of soapuds on washing day will supplement, to a considerable extent, whatever nutriment is contained in such soil as happens to be available.—Ladies' Home Journal.

HE DROPPED HIS PIPE.

And the Loss Naturally Caused Him Some Annoyance.

One afternoon last summer I was standing on the great suspension bridge just below Niagara falls looking at the great cataract and admiring the wonderful colors of the green and blue river, 200 feet below. Several workmen were engaged in painting the bridge, and I became interested in their operations. It required no little engineering skill to rig up an apparatus by which to enable a painter to traverse the giant guy rope cables which radiate from the center of the bridge, fan-shaped, toward either end of the structure. A painter's platform four feet square was suspended from one of these cables by a trolley arrangement, a grooved wheel running on the cable. By means of a rope attached to this wheel a man on the bridge could draw the platform from the river bank—the terminus of the cable—to the bridge above, and as the platform passed along the cable a workman sitting on a common chair on the platform would paint the great iron rope above his head and behind the trolley wheel.

I was especially interested in the work of a Swede, who, perched on a small platform, was painting one of the Canadian braces. He had begun at the end of the cable on the Canadian shore far below, and had been pulled up the cable's steep incline toward the bridge until perhaps two-thirds of his journey had been completed. There was absolutely nothing but air between him and the scorching river 200 feet below; but there he sat, on a swinging platform, methodically plying his brush and complacently smoking a short clay pipe.

"How it happened I don't know. But the man on the bridge suddenly let the rope slip out of his hands. There was a sharp cry of alarm from the startled painter as the platform began to spin down the incline, with constantly increasing momentum. It seemed as if the poor fellow must inevitably be dashed against the rocky precipice and tumble into the river a mangled corpse. The slack of the rope on the bridge, however, became entangled around a brace and the perilous descent came to a sudden end. The flying platform stopped with a jerk. The chair, a pall of paint, a brush and a clay pipe went sailing into space. The painter caught a corner of the platform just in time to save himself from following them.

Two minutes later the platform had been pulled up to the bridge, and the Swede was given a chance to stretch his legs again in safety. The man on the bridge had not a word to say. He was as pale as a corpse and trembled like a leaf. But the Swede did have something to say, and he said it without the slightest tremor of emotion in his voice. "You," he remarked, "A tank you skal land me your pipe. Talk big fool Ay drop mine."—Chicago.

THE ARMOR PLATE MONOPOLY.

The Government is building battle ships to increase the effectiveness of the navy. These vessels, which are designed to be used exclusively for war purposes, are to be armored, that is, covered with steel plates, which are supposed to be impenetrable. There are two plants in the country where plates are manufactured, one at the Bethlehem and the other at the Carnegie works in Pennsylvania. As the Government doesn't desire to have American war vessels armored with steel plates manufactured in foreign countries, and in that particular it is in accord with public sentiment, the armor plate manufacturers take advantage of the situation. They refuse to furnish the plate for less than $500 per ton, and as the vessels now being built must be armored, and the Government is under contract to furnish the armor when the ship builders are ready for it, the plate manufacturers can exact their own terms.

At $500 per ton the armor for a battle ship costs from one to two millions of dollars, according to the size of the vessel. This is expensive, especially when it is taken into consideration that the naval vessels of to-day may be obsolete to-morrow as improvements are being constantly made in projectiles. Edison and others, who have given the subject attention, say in the next great naval battle electricity and dynamite will play a very important part. However that may be the steel plate manufacturers are coercing the Government and for the time being seem to be successful, owing to the inaction of Congress.

The United States has arsenals for the manufacture of ordnance and munitions of war. Why cannot the Government build factories for the manufacture of armor plate as well as for the manufacture of guns and projectiles? Is it under such great obligations to Carnegie that it must let him make a profit estimated at $200 per ton on armor plate for vessels which are said to be built for the protection of the country? With $240,000,000 available cash lying idle in the treasury the Government can well afford to erect a factory for the manufacture of armor plate and save to the people the immense profit now paid Carnegie. By that means a part of the money lying useless in the treasury would be put in circulation and employment given to many who are now seeking it in vain. What if such works should cost five or ten millions of dollars? As the Government will not redeem bonds with the idle money some other means should be devised to get it in circulation and at present, while we are waiting for the wave of prosperity, it could be used advantageously in giving employment to workmen building armor works for the United States, and proving to Carnegie & Co. that the country is not wholly at their mercy.

PRESIDENT ANDREWS, of Brown University, dared to express his sentiments on the financial question. His ideas were not in accord with those of the moneyed class, whose children attended the University, and he was called to account for his advocacy of free coinage by a special committee appointed by the trustees. Being a proud spirited man and positive in his convictions he would not retract a word spoken or written by him in favor of silver, and as that did not satisfy the trustees he resigned. The silver men are more liberal as is evidenced in our schools and University.

The estate of the late Charles F. Crocker is estimated to be worth from eight to ten million dollars. His will bequeaths it to his three children, absolutely, and not a dollar was left to public, charitable or educational institutions. The Vanderbilt principle "the public be damned" seems to be the directing influence with millionaires when they are preparing to sever forever their relations with those from whom in one way or another they acquired their millions.

PRESIDENT McKINLEY did not think Congress capable of dealing with the monetary question, so he prepared a message suggesting that a commission be appointed to formulate a bill to be submitted to Congress at its regular session next winter. Allison, Dingley & Co. considered this a reflection upon their ability as financiers, and so informed the President, who humbly begged their pardon, and as an evidence that he was truly contrite, put his message in the store.

The Sultan of Turkey has sanctioned the settlement of the frontier question with Greece in accordance with the wishes of the powers. As soon as the representatives of the great nations exhibited a little firmness the Turk weakened. He knew that the power that kept him for years on his tottering throne was fully capable of preserving the autonomy of Greece, and he did not wish to incur its displeasure.

A great forest fire is raging north of Obispo, Cal. Miles of fencing have been destroyed. Hogs and small live stock have been caught in the flames and burned and the damage all over the country is extensive. Every able-bodied man in Ochoasett is out fighting the fire.

To Drive Away Vermin.

A writer in the Scientific American says he has cleared his premises of vermin by making whitewash yellow with copperas and covering the stones and rafters in the cellar with it. In every crevice in which a rat might go he put the copperas, and scattered it in the corners of the floor. The result was a complete disappearance of rats and mice. Since that time not a rat nor a mouse has been seen near the house. Every spring the cellar is coated with the yellow wash as a purifier and a rat exterminator and no typhoid, dysentery or fever attacks the family.

One Day on "the Force" and Then He Was Up to a Vacation.

John Throckston wanted to be a detective. He came all the way from Fredericktown, Mo., to gratify his ambition. He had evidently been reading of "Long-haired Harry, the lynx-eyed sleuth," or some other such hero of yellow-back literature, and was patterning after his ideal of the genuine sleuth when he called at police headquarters to file his application. The bright young men who record the daily happenings in police circles were attracted by his peculiar make-up, and determined to have some fun at his expense.

"Are you acquainted with Willie?" was the first question put to him. "Willie" is a half-gallon tin bucket, painted a glowing red, upon which is inscribed in big white letters "Don't let Willie's spirits droop." It costs but ten cents to keep Willie's spirits up to the top notch, and the applicant for a place on the detective force was taxed accordingly.

Having made himself familiar with "Willie" the applicant was then examined as to his height, weight and age. Then one of the boys remarked that "Willie" was spiritless, and the applicant was told to dig into his pocket again for the coin that supplied them. While the applicant was attending to "Willie" the boys had prepared the following unique note to the physicians at the dispensary: "Whereas, There appeared this day before us Jay Throckston, student of capology, desirous of entering the service, and, whereas, we have concluded that he is absolutely void of hoponativeness or nit, we desire that you give him a thorough going over and permit the roology to meander."

Armed with this document, the fellow called at the dispensary. The doctors saw the joke and, after deceiving him with dabs of iodine, sent him back to headquarters. It happened that upon his return the boys were busy, and, in order to get rid of him, fixed up a note to Capt. Reynolds.

He went like a good soldier and did not return until the next day, when he reported that Noble Shepard was still at large and asked leave to go on a visit to his aunt, living in De Soto.

A document entitled "Leaf of Absinthe" was given him, together with a note to the conductor of any old train, requesting that the bearer be permitted to walk to De Soto unless he put up the coin for a ride and, in that case, that he be given free water, fresh air and other similar conveniences, free of charge. This was the last seen of the would-be detective.—St. Louis Republic.

When Laundering Linen.

Only the best of laundry soap may be used on table linens. All others will turn them yellow and possibly rot the texture because of the free alkali they contain. The blue used to tint the linen after the last rinsing must also be of the best; stains like iron rust are caused by the chemical ingredients of inferior blue mixing with starch and producing iodide. Frequent rinsings in pure, cold water after washing and an occasional bleaching upon the grass in the hot summer sun will render table linen white and sweet. The French have a way of making even an inferior quality of table linen look well without the aid of starch. When the napkins are washed and dried and ready to be ironed, they are dipped into boiling water and partially wrung out between cloths. They are then rapidly ironed with as hot a flatiron as possible without burning them. Treated in this manner they become beautifully glossy and stiff.—St. Louis Republic.

BREVITIES.

Water pipe laid cheap by Lange & Schmitt.

Screen doors and windows at Lange & Schmitt's.

Mrs. J. B. Williams has returned from a visit to the coast.

Mrs. John Belz was a passenger for California yesterday morning.

C. T. Bender and O. J. Smith visited the Olinghouse mining district yesterday.

And now a number of Carson people say they are going to the new mining district in Alaska.

Philo Jacobs and wife returned from San Francisco yesterday morning after an extended visit.

Mrs. Cutting returned from San Francisco on yesterday morning's passenger and continued on to Carson.

Henry Riter returned from San Francisco yesterday morning. He reports Mrs. Riter's health as improving.

Refrigerators, icecream freezers, garden hose, lawn mowers, the best and cheapest at Lange & Schmitt's.

Scientists claim that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but Sierra steam or lager beer once tried proves a favorite beverage.

A. Nelson will sacrifice his stock of furnishing goods in order to make room for new goods. Now is the time to get bargains. Call at his store on Virginia street. Free employment office connected with the store.

Call at Muller & Stampf's Pabst agency for fine California and imported wines for family and medicinal purposes. Sherry, port, muscatel, angelica and all dry wines by the gallon. Open every day until 7 o'clock.

At the Riverside: Henry Dodo, J. J. Randall, Walter Shaw, Capt. J. B. Overton, all of Virginia; Mr. and Mrs. Rigby and daughter, Alameda; B. Goldsmith, San Francisco; P. S. Sisk, Sacramento; P. E. Sherlock, Illinois.

The Porteous Decorating Company have a specially selected stock of wall paper, mouldings, window shades, paints and oils, also glass cut in any size to suit. Estimates on work given and contracts taken. Houses and sign work a specialty.

S. J. Hodgkinson has a new novelty in chewing gum. It is nicely put up in gelatine cases which keeps it fresh and clean. It is flavored to suit the taste and carries pepsin enough to cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia. It sells for 5 cents a package.

A certain country newspaper editor evidently has not much faith in the Klondyke, for in speaking of the prospective immigration from California to the gold fields of Alaska he begs his subscribers to pay their subscription arrearages before they leave.

Frank Porter has purchased the stock and fixtures of Laka's book store and will take full charge on Monday. Mr. Porter will conduct a first-class stationery and novelty store as well as a depot for all of the latest periodicals, magazines and fashion books. Cigars, cigarettes and smoker's goods will be a specialty.

The California marriage bureau's principal place of business, Reno, Nevada, has had another business boom for the past week. The brides generally have had previous matrimonial experience, but the California laws prohibit a repetition within one year from the date of the severance of the former bonds, hence they come to Nevada in order to lose no time.

Horace Churchill is now located with H. J. Thye. As a mixologist he has few equals and no superiors. His many friends as well as all patrons will find him accommodating and courteous and ready to cater to their most exacting wish in the line of mixed or fancy beverages. He will be found on the day watch, always prompt and attentive.

The Accelerating Motor case occupied the attention of the District Court yesterday and will probably be concluded to-day. The JOURNAL was in error in reporting that the suit was brought by the Ponks estate against former stockholders of the company for damages. The suit is brought as a test case to force the former stockholders into paying up arrearages on their subscription to the stock.

Charles Lake, Pete Rasmussen and Chris Folsom are already for their long journey to the Klondyke. Geo. Becker will probably accompany them as far as Seattle. They will start Sunday. Henry and Jerome Higgins may also go as far as Seattle and later go on to British Columbia, and if they receive encouraging news from the new gold fields they will probably follow the others in the Spring.

John McKinnon and Jas. Meehan, two old and experienced Comstock miners, will start for the Klondyke gold mines to-morrow. They go to Juneau and from there overland to Dawson City. They go in the joint interest of themselves, D. M. Ryan, A. J. McDonald and Superintendent P. Kevin. The funds for the enterprise will be furnished by the three last named gentlemen and if any profits result they will be equally divided among all of the parties.

TO THE KLONDYKE.

Several Young Men in Reno Would Go If They Had Funds.

It has been suggested, and the scheme is a good one, in view of the great mining excitement in Alaska and with the additional view of finding out the true status and possibilities of the northern gold fields, that a joint stock company be organized and two or four young men be sent into the gold fields to investigate and report.

We have a half-dozen young men in Reno who have just graduated from the School of Mines at the University, who have health, strength and ability to help them make their way in the Klondyke and in gaining all of the data and information necessary as to the wealth of the region, but unfortunately they are not possessed of the necessary funds to secure the outfit and pay their passage.

Everyone of these young fellows are willing to risk their future, endure the hardship and as far as possible work in the interest of those who would back them with funds enough to make the journey. They are Edmund Lachman, Henry and Jerome Higgins, John Magill and others, all deserving young men who have taken a thorough course in mining and are fully capable of making a careful and profitable canvass of the country which is now attracting the attention of the whole world, and if the possibilities are as great as claimed, they could in a comparatively short time refund every dollar advanced, with interest, besides giving such information as would be valuable to the promoters of such an enterprise. A stock company could be formed and such of these young men employed as would most probably bring success to the undertaking.

Hundreds of men are anxious to know the truth of the situation, but are not in a position financially to risk the amount of money required to make the journey, yet would be willing to subscribe a reasonable amount, or take stock in a company in order to obtain information or a possible interest in locations, if the prospects are what is claimed.

It is reported that a prominent man of Reno yesterday received an offer of $2,000, providing he would visit the gold region and after a thorough investigation, report. The gentleman has interests here that he cannot very well leave; besides, he is advanced in years and the hardship of the journey on an elderly man might prove more than he could stand. These young men are foot-loose, energetic and ambitious, and the trials and difficulties to be met would stimulate rather than discourage them in their efforts to accomplish success. In addition, it would be the means of starting several deserving young men in a vocation that they have especially fitted themselves for, and they could from the beginning enter into the calling that they have chosen as their life work with a view of benefiting themselves and helping their fellowman.

AN ARM BROKEN.

Rev. F. C. Lee is Thrown From His Horse and Seriously Injured.

Rev. Fredric C. Lee met with a serious accident last evening that will cause him to carry his right arm in a sling for sometime. He had intended to ride up the river and try his luck at fishing and with this in view had saddled up his riding horse, which is a spirited animal and brought him out of the stable preparatory to mounting. Mr. Lee had his fishing rod in his hand and as he attempted to vault into the saddle he supposed that he struck the horse with the pole or something startled the animal, causing him to bound into the air so suddenly that his rider was unseated and thrown with great force against a fence. Mr. Lee's right arm was fractured at the wrist, but he escaped any other serious injury yet was pretty badly shaken up.

Dr. Holmes was called and reduced the fracture, but owing to the location of the injury it will be sometime before the arm will be of much use.

Mr. Lee says that the horse was about as much surprised as he was at the sudden outcome, consequently he does not blame the animal. The reverend gentleman will not be prevented from attending to his ministerial duties by the injury, but says he will have to obtain the services of an amanuensis to do his correspondence.

Short and to the Point.

Mr. Wm. Glasmann of Ogden set an example, in introducing Hon. Wm. J. Bryan at the great meeting at Ogden Wednesday evening, that, as regards brevity, should be followed by all presiding officers at public meetings when introducing great men. He said: "Ladies and gentlemen, it is my pleasure to introduce to you an American citizen, William Jennings Bryan."

Usually on such occasions the chairman of the meeting tries to be the attraction. We have had two or three such occurrences in Reno.

Charles Crocker's Will.

The will of the late Charles Crocker was opened and read in the presence of his three children at his San Mateo county residence Thursday. Later other relatives were called in and the document was read through. His lawyer returned to the city and filed the will for probate in the afternoon. All the estate is valued at from seven to ten million dollars and is bequeathed to his three children absolutely. No bequests are made to public, charitable or educational institutions.

The Granite Saloon is a quiet and pleasant place of resort. Cool beer is a specialty. Choice wines are sold by the gallon or in quantities desired, also liquors of all kinds.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against alum and all forms of adulteration common to the cheap brands.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

OLINGHOUSE.

What the Southern Pacific Company's Expert Says of the Mines.

W. R. Judson, who was sent to Olinghouse Canyon by William H. Mills of the Southern Pacific Land Department to investigate and report the possibilities of the Olinghouse Canyon gold mines, has submitted his report, which is commented upon in the Evening Post in detail. After referring to the location of the mines geographically, the various sections, townships, elevation, etc., and the date of discovery, he proceeds as follows:

The permanency of the mines is problematical owing to their recent discovery and present lack of ample facilities for working them. The surface indications, however, are excellent and the owners of claims are sanguine of remunerative results. A few men have located the entire district. The miners have traced the deposit to its source in the porphyry belt where the mines are located. Gold values are found in the float rock and ore of very high grade has been taken from the croppings. The formation is a stratified porphyry belt about a mile wide trending northeast and southwest and can be traced from Virginia City to Pyramid Lake and beyond. The porphyry varies in character and several conglomerates are observable in the formation. The surface indications do not define a vein or ledge and thus far in the development there does not appear to be any dip in the formation.

The strata vary in width, some being very wide. There are no quartz ledges, but some of the porphyry is traversed by seams of fine quartz and spar. Specimens of this rock are crystallized and some of it under the microscope, shows fine particles of quartz throughout. The best gold prospects are found in these formations. From surface indications the best values seem to lie in seams or pockets in the wide strata and these pockets are not evenly distributed.

Reference is made to the various locations by name and the amount of development work done. It is also mentioned that the ore would have to be taken six miles to the Truckee River for reduction. In speaking of the assays the report says:

"Assays of the ore from the mines and prospects show that the formation is 'spotted,' and that the rich surface float comes from small seams or narrow strata. It may develop that a dozen or more of the veins will 'bunch' and the result will be a good mine. Some of the assays range from $10 to $40 a ton, averaging $15. One sample from the Gold Center mine assayed $83.10 with $1.40 in silver. An assay from another mine yielded $45.48 gold and $2.20 silver. An assay from the Oro yielded $10.47. In all of the assays there were traces of silver."

It is believed that the proper method of development is to crosscut the formation through Green Hill. It is possible that such a tunnel may uncover many small strata which in the aggregate would constitute a rich deposit. The quickest and cheapest way to ascertain whether the formation contains extensive bodies of ore is to amalgamate the interests and drive a tunnel through Green Hill.

OFF FOR KLONDYKE.

T. W. Boalt Has Determined to Sell Out and Go to the Mines.

T. W. Boalt has decided to cast his lot in the new gold fields of the Northwest and with this in view has determined to close out his stock of groceries at cost. The sale will commence next Monday and continue until the goods are closed out. Everything will be sold at cost and the sales rushed without reserve. Goods will be delivered promptly, but must be paid for before they leave the store.

It will be one of the greatest grocery sales that ever took place in Reno and a rare opportunity will be offered to secure bargains at a nominal price, as Mr. Boalt is anxious to conclude the sale at as early a date as possible owing to arrangements having been made for his journey that he cannot delay with out serious loss to himself.

Remember the sale commences next Monday at his store in the Investment Building and the faster the goods go the better he will be pleased.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

L. Sawyer of Amadee Suffers the Dislocation of a Shoulder.

L. Sawyer of Amadee while driving to Reno on Thursday was thrown from his cart and suffered the dislocation of his right shoulder. He was brought in on the N.-O. last evening and Dr. Holmes reduced the fracture. Mr. Sawyer is well known in Verdi and vicinity.

Pather Cured of Scrofula.

HIS DAUGHTER OF ST. VITUS' DANCE.

Facts Vouched for and Sworn to.
 From the Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have brought my daughter into the home of G. W. Bensch, 908 Hennepin Avenue, the well-known Minneapolis decorator and painter. For over ten years Mr. Bensch was afflicted with scrofula in an aggravated form, causing running sores to continually form on the back of the neck and extend up into the hair. To-day he is cured and happy—twice happy we might say; for his daughter who is now fourteen years of age has the terrible disease of scrofula known as St. Vitus' dance, and has also been greatly improved by the use of these pills.

In relating his experience to a Tribune reporter, he said: "I have had the annoyance nearly twelve years, consisting chiefly of scrofulous tumors on the back of my head and neck. I tried many remedies without receiving the relief desired. It was after persistent efforts of a friend to induce me to use Pink Pills for Pale People, that I yielded, and the result is that now I cannot express my thanks fittingly to that friend for his persistency. I know these are good pills for scrofula. You can see for yourself the dry marks and red spots left on my neck, where formerly were eruptions that emitted matter and the vilest humors of the blood. Now they do not even show, and I believe I am practically cured."

"I want to tell you, too, about the great benefit my daughter, who is now fourteen years old, also received from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. For two years she had St. Vitus' dance and we did everything we could hear of to relieve her, but have never found anything that equals these pills. She has used four boxes and is nearly cured. We have great faith in them and will continue their use when afflicted."

Enlarged Joints from Rheumatism.

Such a Condition Indicates a Chalky Deposit and is Seldom Cured—There is Hope in Some Cases, however, from an Enriching of the Blood.

From the Record and Union, Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pratt, wife of Mr. John Pratt, one of the oldest settlers in Olmsted County, Minnesota, for many years has been painfully afflicted with rheumatism in its most aggravating and inconvenient form.

Mrs. Pratt is well known in the vicinity of Viola, having during one administration held the responsible position of postmistress. She tells the tale of her affliction and subsequent restoration to health, which is printed in order that others similarly suffering may read and adopt the same remedy she did.

VIOLA, Olmsted Co., Minn., August 24, 1896.

"A little over ten years ago I discovered that the joints of my fingers were enlarging and very sore. I consulted many physicians with some slight relief at times from pain, but the joints grew larger and larger, and my neck, shoulders and hands were so stiff that I could not move them without great pain. My toes too were swollen and stiff, and my hands were so contracted that I could not use them. I had given up all hope of being able to do any work, when I was called to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I began taking them before I experienced considerable relief, and I continued using them according to directions until I have taken altogether about three dozen boxes. My fingers are now straight and flexible, and the joints reduced to their normal size; the rheumatic pains are almost gone, and now, though I always keep Pink Pills by me, I never use them. I am willing that this testimonial shall be published, in order that the extraordinary curative powers of Dr. Williams' medicine may be known to rheumatic sufferers."

(Signed) Mrs. E. A. PRATT.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of a group, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post-paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y."
